How to use this ebook

This ebook encourages navigation among sections and between listings. Placing your cursor above a section listing or any listing, in blue font, on the table of contents or throughout and clicking, will bring you to that section or item. Each cancel can be individually accessed by doing the same on the listing of “advertisements.” Likewise, clicking on the box marked, “return to table of advertisements” will take you back to the Table of Advertisements, so another can be selected.

This ebook is searchable with Acrobat Reader or Adobe Acrobat Pro by going to the pull-down menu at the top of the page and selecting “advanced search.” This will allow you to search the document for text or number.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA MACHINE ADVERTISING CANCELS: THE FIRST REPUBLIC PERIOD

INTRODUCTION

PURPOSE AND SCOPE OF THIS PROJECT

The purpose of this project is to identify, show and provide information about the machine advertising cancels used in Czechoslovakia during the First Republic period (1918 to 1939). All offices of use seen by the researchers are identified. Years of use, earliest and latest dates of use, colours of the cancels and quantities seen of each are provided. In addition, offices of use, seen by previous researchers, but NOT by the current researchers are listed to show that these should also exist. New items, not listed in previous editions, such as new advertisements, new earliest or latest dates, new offices, new colours are marked with an asterisk (*). This work is aimed at those interested in the philately of the former country of Czechoslovakia (and its successor states), its stamps, cancels and postal history. The authors are hopeful that it will help other philatelists enter into collecting and furthering the research into these fascinating cancellations.

PREVIOUS RESEARCH AND LITERATURE

There are several detailed works on cancels of the Czechoslovakia First Republic period, including examinations of the special commemorative hand stamp cancels. Information regarding the machine advertising cancels is more difficult to access, especially in English.

A major work entitled, "CESKOSLOVENSKA PILEZITOSTNA A PROPAGACNI RAZITKA 1919-1969" by Vaclav Nebesky, Brno 1971, published in six booklets, lists both handstamp and machine advertising cancels used during the stated period. Nebesky's work is organized by topic; multiple years of use are not listed nor are early and late dates given. Many advertisements are listed several times as they fit several topics. The list of offices using the cancels is extensive. Data of the machine advertising cancels from this work was analysed by the current researchers and is included in the appendix. Corresponding catalogue numbers are given to this listing. Where the current authors have not seen a cancel listed by Nebesky, it is marked "not listed."

An article was published in the November 2012 issue 11 of Filatelie, entitled "STROJOVA RAZITKA S PROPAGACNIMI STOCKY: Cs Turnusova Razitka.". The authors of this article, M. Rulec and J. Chudoba, provided the current researchers with a pre-publication copy of their article: "Prehled turnusovych razitek pouzivanych na uzemi Ceskoslovenska." This updates a previous article by Antonin Hasek, "Turnusova razitka" in Filatelie [1981:21] and describes the use of selected advertising cancelling dies that were used consecutively in a number of offices. The information from this article is also included as an appendix to this project as many of the offices identified have not been seen by the current authors. Offices listed by Rulec and Chudoba, but not seen by the current authors, are listed with the appropriate cancel as tables indicated as reported but not seen.

Examination of issues of Tribuna Filatelistu, revealed only a few notifications of advertising cancels. Lowey's articles in The Czecho-Slovak Specialist¹ list several machine advertising cancels, but primarily deal with commemorative hand stamp cancels. Neumann's work in 2004² likewise only deals with hand-stamp cancels. Contemporary Czechoslovakia postal authority bulletins advertised just two of these cancels. This project is an attempt to further the process of developing a detailed listing of the First Republic Period machine advertising cancels, including the offices that used these cancels, periods of use, colours and number of examples seen ("rarity factors") as well as related information.

HISTORICAL BACKGROUND

Czechoslovakia achieved independence in 1918 independence with many essential national institutions in place, including well-developed postal systems, inherited from the Austro-Hungarian Empire. A postal challenge for the new country was bringing together two different systems, as the Czech lands used the Austrian system while Slovakia was in the Hungarian postal realm. Independence did bring much change and necessitated the introduction of new postage stamps to identify and symbolize the new republic.

The newly independent Czechoslovakian postal system adapted cancelling machines of the Austrian and Hungarian systems to its needs. Hasek³ documents the early cancelling machines used during the Austria-Hungary Empire period. The existing literature [available in English] notes one machine slogan cancel from the Empire period⁴.

After the initial period of independence and issuance of national postage stamps, machine advertising cancels were introduced in 1920. Mail was a very important communication method and these cancels advertised events, charities, anniversaries, patriotism, lotteries, postal services and directives and other national concerns, helping bring the new country together. Machine advertising cancels were not a new concept, having been used in some other countries since at least the end of the previous century.

The First Republic period ends with the occupation by the German armies, succession of Slovakia and the imposition of a protectorate over the rump Bohemia and Moravia. Stamps of Czechoslovakia remained valid until December 15, 1939. Cancels used up to this date are considered, for the purpose of this project, part of the First Republic period.

THE CZECHOSLOVAKIA MACHINE ADVERTISING CANCELS:

The first Czechoslovakia machine advertising cancels appeared in June 1920. Generally speaking, the use of new advertisements increased over time. Machine advertising cancels were primarily produced on Krag repeating cancel machines of a type developed in Norway and are similar to those used in the United Kingdom and many other countries. A proportion of the machine advertising cancels are duplex advertisements, that is, they had two different, but related texts and in some instances, two illustrations as well. As these cancel impressions were continuous and repeated, identification as “left” or “right”, is only for identification convenience as their position on a cover depended on where it encountered the machine. What is “left” on one cover, can be “right” on another cover. Some of the cancels were used in different colours (including black, blue, red, lilac, purple and green). The repeating cancels also have two dater hubs, noted by examples having different dates.

A small number of advertising cancels are made from different, non-repeater machines. Four of these are made on Universal cancelling machines and a fifth, on an Ascom-Hasler cancelling machine. These cancels are included at the end of the listing.

During the period of the First Republic, Czechoslovakia used over a hundred and eighty different machine advertising cancels, including both Czech and Slovak language versions (Prague offices used the largest number of these cancels) which are included in this listing. Over one hundred fifty offices have been seen by the current researchers to have used at least one machine advertising cancel during this period. A list of these offices is below, in Table 1. When the offices, years and colours are counted, the variety of cancels is quite substantial.

ARRANGEMENT OF THE LISTING:

The listing of cancels was initially arranged chronologically with the first appearance of an advertising cancel⁵, regardless of the office in which it appeared. Exceptions to this are those advertisements that are in both Czech and Slovak and those that are produced on Universal and Ascom Hasler machines. The original system became awkward with increasing information on the use of cancels.

The Seventh edition brought a major change to the numbering system. Increased data revealed that in many instances there were earlier years of use than had been previously found. For this reason and because it appears that most of the cancels used during the period have now been identified, they are listed in the new chronological order beginning with the number one and finishing with number one hundred fifty-six. Czech and Slovak language cancels are given the same number and are identified with “C” indicating Czech language cancels and “S” Slovak language, respectively. This system has proved workable. Only two additional (one a spelling variation) advertisements have been found since and these have been designated with an “A” suffix.

Tables with the new numbering system in concordance with their old numbers, for convenience of reference, are included at the end of Part II.

Because of the quantity of some of the offices using particular cancels and multiple years of use, and the problems this causes for pagination, it was decided to list each cancel on a separate page or pages. While this increases the length of the book and the amount of paper required should printing be wanted, the authors hope that this will help add clarity to the listing. Scans of actual covers of the advertisements are included since the 9th edition; these are from the collection and (large gold medal) exhibit formed by Steven Friedenthal.

Advertising cancel listings are alphabetically by office and arranged by year of earliest report and then by earliest and latest observed date. It is expected that there will continue to be new finds of earlier and later dates and additional offices of use. A listing of offices reported (by other authors), but not seen by the current researchers for each advertisement is included.

Symbols used in the listing: offices that have not been previously reported by other researchers are marked with ^. Items used after the succession of Slovakia and declaration of the protectorate are marked with #. New items, not listed in previous editions or updates of earlier or later dates are marked * in the appropriate columns.

NEW INFORMATION

The authors would greatly appreciate hearing from anyone about this project. Improvements in the transcriptions and translations are appreciated. Critique is welcome. The authors would especially like to hear from those who can provide information on any unlisted slogans, new early and latest dates as well as other formats and additional offices. Please contact the author at stevefr1@telus.net. Scans in pdf or jpg would be much appreciated. As well, with new information coming from those who have slogans in their collections, occasional updates can be provided to those who contact the authors through the above email address.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS AND THANKS

The author would like to express especial thanks to Ludvik “Lou” Svoboda for his encouragement and great assistance by translating the Czech and Slovak advertisements into English and editing drafts. Dr. Peter Schubert, co-author, corrected the author’s transcription of the advertisements, provided a great deal of encouragement and translated a majority of the slogans. Thanks to Dr. Joel Weiner for reviewing drafts of this project report and offering advice. The sellers of Czech machine advertising cancels on Ebay and Delcampe and individual philatelic auction houses and retail outlets: Burda Auction, Pac-Auction and especially “Internetova Obchodni Filatelie” offered the author many covers and “2 by 4”s which helped solidify this work to date. Thanks to the Society for Czechoslovak Philately for publishing this edition and the previous editions of this book on its’ website. Thanks to the Czechoslovak Philatelic Society of Great Britain for being the European publisher of this project and for helping to continue the conversation about machine advertising cancels through a presentation in March 2024 and an article in its journal, “Czechout”.

Thanks to collectors who sent scans of covers from their collections, including Mr. Dieder Wulf, Mr. Johan Sevenhuijsen and Mr. Jacques Hermann. These are very much appreciated and helped to significantly improve and update the project.

We would also like to express appreciation to M. Rulec, and J. Chudoba for the pre-publication copy of their paper on “travelling” advertising cancels, the information of which is included as an appendix to this handbook.

Commercial sources for the examples seen include: Internetiva Obchodni Filatelie (www.Philashop.cz), Ebay (www.Ebay.com and www.Ebay.de), Delcampe (www.Delcampe.net and www.Delcampe.com), Burda Auction (www.burda-auction.com), Pisemna Auke Celin A Postovni Historie (www.pac-auction.com), Jim Forte Postal History (www.postalhistory.com), Brnofila (www.brnofila.cz) and HipStamp (hipstamp.com). Material from collectors include that from the collections of Mr. Jacques Hermann, Mr. Johan Sevenhuijsen, and Mr. Didier Dewulf, in addition to the collection of the authors. As well, the exhibit site, Exponet (www.exponet.info), was also used.

Thank you to the late Daniel Rosenblat, our mentor in philatelic research.

PERMISSION

Permission is granted to use and quote material in this booklet with acknowledgement to the authors.

THE ELEVENTH EDITION

Over 1200 new examples have been recorded since publication of the ninth edition. There are 220 updates (NOT including changes in quantities seen) in the 11th Edition: previously unseen offices, new years of use, and new earliest and latest dates of use. NO new slogans have been found. The number seen of each slogan (including by office and year) is provided as well as the number seen for each since completion of the seventh edition. A cumulative total of over 11,000 cancels were seen by the researcher during the period of research ending September 30, 2022. Thirty-four new offices for existing slogans have been found; 28 additional years of use as well as 45 new earliest dates and 40 new latest dates.

Those examples with legible text, office and date are included; those without legible dates, text or offices are not included in the listing or quantities seen. The main listing provides the quantity seen by cancel, by office and by year where there are multiple offices and years, respectively. This edition has search capacity of the listing. Internal hyperlinks are included to take the reader from the contents to the specific section of the listings. Hyperlinks also take the reader to the individual cancel as well as to listing of offices and years of use. Scans of actual covers have also been included for most of the advertisements. Some contextual information about the personalities and events has been included when this has been found by the authors. Included are some links to articles from which information is derived. Scans of contemporary postcards and poster stamps are also contextual information. In Part II, items which are updated have been changed to red colour as well as marked with asterisks, for ease of identification. Earliest and latest dates in Part II have been changed to European format (day/month in Roman numerals/ full year).

This project was produced in Microsoft Word for “Mac” and converted to Pdf using Adobe Acrobat Pro.

The 1921 Workers' Olympiad was the first games of the International Workers' Olympiads, organized by the 1920 Lucerne Sport International and hosted by the Czechoslovak Workers' Gymnastic Association in Prague. The games were held from 25 June to 29 June 1921. Teams were invited from all European nations, including those that had lost the war (unlike the Olympics which did not invite these countries). Most of Czechoslovakia's export markets were in Western Europe. However, in 1921 a re-focus toward the east took place. Permanent commercial relations were established with Balkan states and negotiations took place with Russia. To these ends, the Orient Fair was held at Bratislava.

The Czech national anthem, Kde domov můj? ("Where Is My Home?"), was originally a song in a popular satirical play of 1834. The first part speaks to the beauty of the countryside, and the second the nobility of the Czech people. In 1918, song became one of the two national anthems of Czechoslovakia, along with the Slovak national anthem.

During the inter-war years, the Catholic Church was under pressure in Czechoslovakia from other churches and politically as having been seen to support the Hapsburg monarchy. Diligent work by priests and others led to a Catholic revival especially the Congress of All Catholics in Prague in 1935 with Cardinal Verdier present as Papal Legate.

After extensive preparations, Karlovy Vary city council cancelled the festival, (see 107). The stated reasons were because of costs and competing festivals. It is also purported that the cancellation was due to unstable political conditions. The festival was then held in Prague between September 2 and 6.

Possible Additional Cancels

The following are reported by Vaclav Nebesky in his 1971 work "Ceskoslovenska Prilezitostna A Propagacni Razitka 1919-1969" but have not been seen by the current researchers. The length of the text suggests that they may be machine advertising cancels rather than handstamps. When their status is determined, they will be added to the main listing, if appropriate, in roughly chronological order.

Table 3: Cumulative Quantities of Advertising Cancels

This listing includes the cumulative total of all advertising cancels seen by the researchers until September 30, 2022 with the exception of Cancel number 100. The listing includes the slogan number in the far-left column, the quantity seen of each cancel (without regard to year or office) cumulatively up to completion of the listed edition in the middle columns and what is commonly called a “rarity factor” in the far-right column. These factors are in increasingly larger numerical categories from “A” to “G”. categories are arbitrary. The factors for quantities are as follows:

Factor A = 0-5 examples seen; Factor B = 6-15 examples seen; Factor C = 16-30 examples seen; Factor D = 31-50 examples seen; Factor E = 51-100, F=101+ examples seen

Table 4: Quantities by Language

When cancels have both Czech and Slovak language variations, represented with letters -C and -S, respectively, Slovak cancels are only a fraction of those in Czech. This is consistent through the series. This may relate to the smaller population of Slovakia or that more Slovak cancels have not as yet been found.
